

shoko (ʃoʊkoʊ)

'deɪvɪd ɛzəriɐ / wdi-'hæmɪlt(ə)n / 'prɒdʒəkt 4

what is shoko (ʃoukou)?

a tribute ('tribju:t)

'winz

- serves as a solid mvp for something bigger, which over the next few weeks will come to fruition
- challenged me to better understand some of the fundamentals of how a react on rails application works, including working with a rather difficult api
- incorporated almost every element of the last fourteen weeks, which felt like a tribute not to just my personal passions, but the class as a whole

'lɔsəz

- deprioritized parsing sentences in favor of trying to make the current iteration a slackbot, which is not yet done
- deploying to heroku was a real pain in the 'æs, but i welcomed the challenge
- some of the react features, e.g. router, didn't end up getting prioritized, but will be a part of next iteration

what am i proud of?

what am i proud of?
everything, including the opportunities
ahead

'θæŋk 'ju:
(thank you)